

Lifecycle emissions vary from one fuel to another

The purpose of biofuel use is emissions reduction, so it must be assessed on a case-by-case lifecycle basis, from its feedstock, through processing and transportation, through to final use.

